FINANCIAL DISTURBANCES.

The demonization of silver coin, which comprises at least one-half of the money of ultimate redemption of the world and the debasement of silver bullion to the level of a commodity, without fixed value, has sent the market price of the metal to a lower point than it ever reached before. The recent decline in silver to 51 cents per ounce, has so disturbed business relations between England and India that serious embarrassment has resulted and fears of a panic are imminent.

The price of silver governs the price of wheat, pork, cotton and all other agricultural products. This is conclusively proved by statistics covering the years since silver was demonetized by the Congress of the United States. When silver advances wheat follows it, and when it declines wheat goes down with it. As the market value of silver in London controls the price of cotton in India, the present low price of the metal is liable to cause a commercial crisis.

Commenting on the situation the Denver News says it would be an exceedingly strange coincidence if the coming international monetary conference should assemble just as a financial storm breaks over Europe, called as it has been as a fake, and packed as it is with single standard delegates, it would be a remarkable occurrence if pending events should compel it to recommend a restoration of silver to the coinage of all nations. Whether it does or not, however, the finances of the world will never be settled on a firm and substantial basis until silver is once more recognized as money, whether this recognition comes in time to avert disaster, or whether it comes over the ruins of prostrate credit and the wrecks of business houses around the world.

FALLING INTO LINE.

The Silver or People's party movement has reached Churchill county and causes a ground swell along the Carson. The farmers on the prolific alluvial lands bordering on the upper and lower sinks raise abundant crops, but there is no home market for any of the products of the soil except alfalfa, which is used for fattening cattle. The mining business of the county is completely paralyzed and the only source of income is the sale of hay to stockmen and the exportation of beef cattle. Dull times, caused by the scarcity of money incident to the closing of mines are felt in isolated Churchill as well as in San Francisco, the Queen City of the Pacific.

The farmers at the Carson Sinks feel the depression as much as the people in the large centers of population, and they have resolved to rebel against Wall street and its methods. A reliable correspondent, who until recently could not see that Harrisonism and Clevelandism were synonymous, has by studying the situation arrived at the conclusion that it is his duty and the duty of every Nevada to support the Silver or People's party candidates and he is now assured that Churchill will roll up a majority for General Weaver on election day.

INTERESTING LAW POINTS.

Some points of law involving the liberties of citizens have been raised at the trial of the Coeur d'Alene miners. Judge Beatty of the United States District Court, issued a general injunction against the Miners' Union, and its aiders and abettors, restraining them from interfering with the working of certain mines.

Only a few persons were served with the restraining order, the Judge holding that it was not necessary that each should be served for that they should be named in the order. The defendants, many of whom had not been enjoined, were adjudged to be guilty of contempt of court and sentenced to a term of imprisonment. It was also held that all members of the Miners' Union were responsible for the acts of the organization through the character of the organization is measured by its acts not by its constitution and by-law. It is held that the rulings of Judge Beatty in those cases, were high handed and that no member of a society organized for a legitimate purpose should not be accountable for acts not sanctioned by the organization, though committed by members of the organization.

"Should the election be thrown into the House, the fact will stand as a direct repudiation of both Cleveland and Harrison by the people. Silver, it is well known, will be the cause, and the man elected by the House would be forced to bend to the popular uprising for silver that would follow."—Denver News.

The Hale & Norcross Cost Bill Reduced $17,439.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 19.—In the matter of the motion to relax costs in the suit of M. W. Fox against the Hale & Norcross Mining Company et al., Judge Hubbard this morning struck from the defendant's cost bill over $17,000. The reductions made were as follows: Services of 68 subpoenas at $2 each, $136; reduced to 25 cents each. Mr. Baggett's expenses to Carson City, amounting to $100, is stricken out. Baggett is plaintiff's counsel. Commissioner Nobles' bill of $116 is stricken out. Depositions of T. R. Hofer, Charles Peters, Evan Williams, Clayton Belknap and J. M. Dunbar and expenses of Mr. Baggett and Mr. Collins in taking same, amounting to $250, is stricken out. The bill of Commissioner Edwards at Carson, amounting to $55, is stricken out. H. W. Tangeman's traveling expenses from Virginia City and return as witness, amounting to $100, is stricken out. The same for witness fees for 91 days at $2 each is reduced to 32 days at $2 each, which strikes out $118. The same witness' board for 91 days at $2 each, $182, is stricken out. The same witness' services at Virginia City during the years of 1890, 1891 and 1892 in sampling ore, etc., and traveling expenses for 215 days at $5 each, amounting to $1,075, is stricken out. C. H. Andross' services in examining records of the United States Mint at Carson, 216 days at $10, amounting to $2,160, is stricken out. Some witnesses' expenses to Nevada and return to have the mint records certified, $100, is stricken out. R. N. Collins, service in examining records of the Hale & Norcross mine, etc., 652 days at $20 per day, $13,040, is stricken out. Three copies of transcript of judgment, $9, is stricken out. Syvora's witness fees as expert assayer, $10, is reduced to $2. Printing complaint and type writing, $14, is stricken out. The total cost bill was $18,276 40. The amount struck out by Judge Hubbard is $17,439. This leaves the bill at $840 40, which was allowed.

In the matter of the motion to enter judgment against W. S. Hobart, none pro tunc was then argued. The motion was made by W. H. H. Hart, who is counsel for the Hale & Norcross Mining Company. Baggett, who in particular, represents M. W. Fox, did not favor Hart's position, as he thought it would endanger the judgment.

The Switchmen's Trouble Continues.
 ELKHART, N. Y., August 19.—The attempt to move trains from Waverly met with resistance and the Twentieth separate company and the Sixth battery of Birmingham was ordered there.

BUFFALO, August 19.—This afternoon the Lehigh and Erie began the resumption of their freight traffic. The Lake Shore has men and is waiting until they know that absolute protection is at hand before clearing the yards. The work will be commenced in dead earnest to-morrow. It is clear that while the soldiers are here the roads will be able to resume and continue freight business. The Erie Company paid off yesterday and the Lehigh and Lackawanna paid its employees to-day. The officials are apprehensive that if the contest is to come it may fairly be expected to-night. Their reasoning is that with money in their pockets the men, or at least a portion of them will soon have liquor in their stomachs. The officials fear that cooler heads may not be able to restrain others and an outbreak may occur.

A Committee of twelve taxpayers living in the vicinity of the railroads where the strike is in progress, called upon the sheriff to-day for the purpose of protesting against the great expense of holding the militia here, when, in their opinion, there is absolutely no need for it. A committee of strikers likewise called upon the Mayor to present their case. The sheriff was sent for and the committee said they wished the troops recalled. Some time was spent in arguing, during which the railroad corporations were loudly denounced.

The advisability of calling a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors to take action in the matter of the retention of troops is being considered and there is every prospect that the meeting will be called. The County Supervisors are protesting vigorously against the expenditure of any more money.

ALBANY, N. Y., August 19.—Adjutant General Porter this evening received a dispatch from Sheriff Geer saying that every effort with the force of deputies at hand is fruitless and he ordered the Twentieth Separate Company and the battery of Birmingham for duty at Waverly, N. Y. The commanding officers of these bodies asked General Porter if they should obey the call, and he promptly wired them to do so.

People's Party Nominations.
 BOISE, Idaho, August 19.—The People's Party Convention to-day made the following nominations: Governor, A. J. Crook of Oster county; Lieutenant Governor, J. B. Wright of Ada county; Secretary of State, E. F. Chaney of Latah county; Congressman, James Gunn of Logan; Treasurer, T. J. Sutton of Ada; Auditor, G. H. Anderson of Washington; Superintendent of Public Instruction, J. L. Sueser of Washington; Attorney General, J. E. Webster of Ada. After the nominations of Presidential electors the convention adjourned.

Creditors Will Run the Business.
 SAN FRANCISCO, August 19.—At a meeting of the creditors of the late Alexander Crawford, the South Sea Island merchant, it was ascertained that Crawford's assets amount to $182,000 and the liabilities over $750,000. Eight creditors have been appointed to take charge of the business and run it in the interest of the creditors.

Hanged in the Basement.
 PENDLETON, Or., August 19.—Frederick Born was hanged to-day for the murder of his wife and mother-in-law near Milton in October 1891. The execution took place in the basement of the court-house in the presence of 100 spectators.

THE STRIKING MINERS VENTURE.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 19.—General Carnes now holds one hundred miners as hostages for General Anderson's safe return.

Captain Anderson was surrendered to General Carnes by the miners. CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., August 19.—Uncertainty no longer marks the condition of things at the seat of war. Fort Anderson has been relieved and is no longer in a state of siege. The tables are turned, and the miners instead of being hunters are hunted. General Carnes' forces reached the neighborhood of Bellegarde Camp at daybreak. On his arrival, wild scenes of confusion ensued. The scouts have failed to do duty or have been captured, and the position of the miners is unknown. A forward movement was cautiously made. General Carnes and a heterogeneous army of citizens and about three hundred militia left the train at Moffitt's Station and pushed forward across the country. From Moffitt's to Coal Creek, by the route taken, it is a laborious climb and as laborious a descent. As the column came down the side of the mountain Young Walthall mounted a rock to get a view. A shot rang out through the stillness and he fell headlong among his comrades dead. A body of miners had chosen a sheltered rock which formed a natural defense, and from it fired a volley which caused casualty. Curiously enough the miners had taken no other provision to prevent a rear attack. General Carnes' advance guard at once formed into charging line, and after receiving a scattering volley from the few who failed to take the first opportunity of escaping, advanced rapidly. Eighteen miners were captured.

Another of the Sheriff's posse besides Young Walthall was killed, namely Boss Givens of Knoxville. Two bodies of dead miners were found after the skirmish, and several wounded were taken in and cared for. With these exceptions, the casualties among the miners is unknown. General Carnes arrested 200 citizens of Coal Creek and told the miners he would hold them until Keller Anderson was returned to him. They delivered him to General Carnes alive and well.

Carnes telegraphed that he was in possession, and has plenty of men and ammunition.

Idaho Republicans.
 MOSCOW, Idaho, August 19.—The Republican State Convention reassembled this morning and made the following nominations: Lieutenant Governor, F. B. Willis; Secretary of State, J. F. Curtis; Attorney General, Geo. M. Parsons; Auditor, F. C. Ramsey. Adjourned until 2 p. m.

Operatives.

There are of all sorts, some good, some bad, some indifferent. You want the best. So take Simmonds' Liver Regulator only. It is the best operative in any attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness. It is a mild laxative, without griping, or any debilitating effects. You will know the article by the large red Z on every package. Take no other.

The Truckee Republican, which advocates the People's cause, says "the leading Republican paper of San Francisco is frightened at the magnitude of the People's party movement in that city. It warns the Republicans that they must pull together or there will be little chance of electing a single Republican in San Francisco."

REMINISCENCES.

A Morning Walk Up the Truckee.

It was June ten years ago that I took a morning walk up the beautiful Truckee. I was awakened by some one walking lightly on the porch in front of my bedroom window. Raising the curtain I saw a handsome boy of ten years, who has been my companion on many a tramp. "Oh, Meander," he said, "won't you come for a walk. The sun is up, and hardly any one else, I know it is just lovely up the river." I dressed quickly and we were soon on our way.

Past the old Lake House, which is now the stylish Riverside, we went up to a group of old apple trees in the little flat beyond, and where we passed to admire the broad lake-like appearance of the stream looking so cool and clear on this June morning. Soon we struck our favorite path. It had a ditch on the side above us and thither ran below. It was so narrow we could not walk together, so my manly little companion led the way, for fear that I might be afraid of water snakes and to part the bushes when they were so thick as to interfere with our progress. But how small I describe the wealth of sight and sound as we followed our little path. Every bush was a perfect mass of bloom and they were of all shades from palest pink to rose, and who does not love the fragrance of wild roses. In many of the bushes we found the lovely little gold finch's nest cuddled down in a bed of dewy sweetness, for, as my little friend remarked, they build the most artistic nest of all our birds. The beautiful little blue birds, linnetts, orioles, robins, and others just as sweet, were singing in every tree, and we stopped again and again to listen to their songs, to breathe the fragrance of our roses and to watch the river gliding through the trees below us. Nest after nest we found, nearly all containing eggs, for it was most too early for young birds, and when we stopped to look, which we always did, as each one possessed a charm which we thought the others did not, the mother and her mate remained near and plaintively cried, as though asking us to move on. Many a tree we climbed to see the inside of a new nest, and when the climbing was too difficult for me my little friend, taking the egg out gently, would show me the kind and number. We met temptation in the form of a humming bird's nest, which we happened to spy about ten feet above our heads in a cottonwood tree. How to see it was a puzzling question, for it was quite well out on a limb and directly over the ditch; but with some assistance from my glib little escort we managed to get near enough the nest to break off the small limb on which it swung and descend without damaging it. It was about as large as half of an ordinary egg shell made of cotton from the tree and covered with a brown thread-like substance which is mingled with the cotton and forms the threads by which it hangs. It had two dainty, pure white eggs in it about the size of a small pea. With our trophy and our arms full of roses we returned to the hotel in time for breakfast with the crowd and receive their looks of mild surprise and wonder, which seemed to say what can the find attractive about a tramp up the river with a small boy. Well, my dear little man is a man indeed now, and raises his hat to me politely and distantly, and he happens to remember our early morning walk probably too well why he went. As for me, I am no longer a young man, and our wild rose path is probably "improved" out of existence. LANG SYNE.

CHURCHILL GETTING INTO LINE.

The Farmers Will Practice What They Preach.

ST. CLAIR, Churchill Co., Nev., August 16, 1892.

NEVADA STATE JOURNAL:—Thinking it would be interesting to the readers of the JOURNAL to know something of the silver sentiment in this county, I will say that there is no regular organization here, though in conversation with the people I find there is a goodly number who advocate the principles of the Silver party and will cast their votes in November for Weaver and the Silver electors, and there is more coming. I now firmly believe that at the rate they are coming in the Silver men will be in the majority in this county, as the talk is that we should practice what we have long been preaching, that is vote for the free coinage of silver. As for myself, I say that in enlisting in the silver cause I am simply doing my duty.

MORE MONEY.

In Favor of a Full Ticket.

To James Ritchie and others:—The coinage of gold and silver money without restraint, endowed with the legal tender function to completely answer commercial demand, is the paramount issue in our Government and directly appeals to every person who labors or creates value, and should be pursued by the people under political organization until the object is accomplished.

Organize and perfect your tickets, State, county and municipal, and push them until you control the Government.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

Farmer Thinks They Should be Pledged Before Election.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—There seems to be a difference of opinion about pledging the Silver party Presidential Electors to any candidate. I suppose the Democratic voter, when he casts his ballot, will make peace with himself by assuming that under certain conditions the electoral vote of Nevada will be cast for a Democrat; the Republican voter will make it all right with his family by telling them that under certain extraordinary conditions the vote of Nevada might be cast for a Republican, while the People's party voter will naturally conclude that if Weaver's election is assured without Nevada then the Nevada electors will be red hot for Weaver. Now, Mr. Editor, I am opposed to voting for Presidential Electors that don't know for whom they are going to cast their votes. If the Silver party wants to fuse with the Democrats and Republicans, let us do it honorably and instruct one of the electors to vote for a Republican, one for a Democrat and the other either for a People's party man or a Prohibitionist. In that way a voter could vote intelligently, but the other way he would be going it blind with the chances in favor of his getting left. I have conversed with many members of the Silver League in regard to the matter, and at least nine-tenths of them are in favor of pledging the Silver party electors in the event of their election to cast the vote of Nevada for Weaver and Field, and the sentiment of the members of the League, as far as I have observed, is that the sooner this is done the better.

FARMER.

Burglars About.

Upon opening his butcher shop yesterday morning Mr. Middour was surprised to see numerous papers, books, etc., which he had placed in his safe the night before, scattered about the floor. He immediately went to the safe and found the same open and empty, showing that burglars had visited the premises during the night.

The burglars, however, were not over-weighted by the burden of their spoils, for Mr. Middour, who had lost some $170 last September by nightly visitors, had removed every nickel from the safe before closing the night before. The safe is an old fashioned one, and the intruders had but little difficulty in unweaving the bolt which holds the lock. They gained an entrance to the shop through a screen door in the back.

Thieves also entered the Wm. Tell House last night, and were more successful at this place than at Ruhe & Middour's butcher shop. They managed to carry off $5 that was in the saloon money drawer and a bottle or two of whiskey.

Whittaker Hall.

Considerable repairs and improvements are being made at Whittaker Hall. For the past two months carpenters, painters, plumbers and paper hangers have been busily engaged. When the work is completed this institution will be surpassed by very few schools in the elegance and completeness of its appointments, and will be inferior to none in the social standing, intellectual acquisitions and teaching equipment of its faculty. The citizens of Reno should ever gratefully remember Bishop Whittaker and the late Miss Catherine Wolf of New York for placing in their midst so excellent a school; and all true and loyal Nevadans should do everything in their power to encourage and help the good work that is being done here for the girls of Nevada.

Our Business Men Praised.

The Genoa Courier says: Reno is blessed with an enterprising class of business men who join hands on all public enterprises having in view the advancement of the general welfare of their community, and they pull together nobly. As a result they are drawing around them a most desirable class of people. Handsome dwellings are being erected and real estate is steadily advancing in price. Reno is destined to be an attractive and busy center of a rich section of country. Here in Carson Valley we might profit by the example set by the Benitoes.

Pictures of Weaver.

While in Reno General Weaver and party gave a sitting at the Riverside Photograph Gallery, and a number of fine negatives were taken, two of General Weaver, one of Mrs. Lease and one of the entire party.

These photographs can be had of the Secretary of the Washoe County Silver League or at the Riverside Gallery at $1 each. Sixty cents of every dollar will go into the treasury of the Silver League as a campaign fund. Every silver man in the State should have one of these pictures. ang30w1

"LITTLE TIPPETT"

A Talented Company to Present it at the Opera House This Evening.

It is interesting to note the personnel of this excellent company. It is headed by Mr. Edward M. Bell, late leading man of A. M. Palmer's Madison Square Company. Charles Bower, the eccentric comedian of the company, will be remembered as the original Snuggs in the "Bunch of Keys," also as starting in Roland Reed's play, "Cheek." Harry J. Morgan, late star in the "Private Secretary" for 100 nights in London; Mr. Harry Allen, one of the best old-line comedians, and the original Catermole in the "Private Secretary"; Harry I. Bradley and Charles Harris, excellent comedians. Of the ladies Miss Mabel Burt is probably best known throughout America by her work in "Held by the Enemy," "Runaway Wife," "Cenuch" and "Niobe." Miss Marie Lewis, for the last five years leading lady of Henry Irving's London Company; Mrs. Harry Bloodgood, who is well known and who is specially engaged for the comedy eccentricities, and the babies, two of them, little beauties. "Little Tippet" will be presented at McKiesick's Opera House tonight. Seats on sale at Pinniger's.

STILL UNEXPLORED.

THE LARGEST VOLCANO IN ALASKA DEFIES APPROACH.

Many Attempts Have Been Made to Reach the Giant, but It Lies So Far North That the Absence of Vegetation Has Rendered It Inaccessible.

The grandest mountain of North America has not yet been visited by explorers.

It is an active volcano called Wrangell, located in the interior of Alaska, and its first wreathed dome forms presumably the apex of the continent.

Mount Wrangell lies about 200 miles north of the celebrated Mount St. Elias and is in the center of a region surrounded in mystery. Gigantic mountain ranges rise like terraces one upon the other, guarding in their midst this snowy monster of the north.

About forty years ago a party of Russian explorers on the Copper river, of Alaska, first sighted the peak away to the northeast, and being duly impressed with its majesty conferred upon it the title of their honored governor, Baron Wrangell. They made no attempt, however, to reach the mountain, it being in the country of hostile natives and presenting such apparently insurmountable obstacles to approach.

Several other companies of Russians made partial ascents of the Copper river about the same time and met with disaster. One party of seventeen, under Sebernikoff, was massacred by the natives. No new knowledge of the Copper river was obtained, and no approach was made to the volcano.

It was not until 1884 that another attempt was made at exploration in the Copper river region. Then Lieutenant Allen, one of the most daring men who ever entered Alaska, forced his way with several white companions up the Copper nearly to its source and circled half way around the Mount Wrangell district, viewing the mighty peak from a distance of forty or fifty miles, but finding no opportunity to reach and ascend it. Indeed he was on the verge of starvation at the time and it would have been suicide to have attempted to scale the snowclad heights.

The terrible experiences of Allen discouraged further explorations by way of the Copper, and when, in 1890, I entered Alaska for the second time, I attempted to reach Mount Wrangell by a new avenue of approach, viz., from the northeast. This route necessitated an overland march of 300 miles from the Yukon river, and when I was still fully forty miles from the volcano and tangled up in a labyrinth of mountain ranges, Gigantic peaks, snowclad, devoid of vegetation and animal life, barred our progress in front, and an attempt to scale them, with nothing to eat and naught in sight, would have been sheer madness. So a circle was made to the northwest, crossing Allen's trail, and we forced a way to the Yukon, 700 miles distant, barely escaping starvation.

In 1891 Lieutenant Schwatka, famous as an explorer of the Yukon, tried his hand at traversing the southern border of the Mount Wrangell domain. He proceeded overland from Fort Selkirk on the upper Yukon, piercing an unknown district and emerging on the Copper river south of Mount Wrangell. He also had a close call from starvation. These few explorations constitute the sum total of the discoveries in the vicinity of Mount Wrangell up to date. Several sketches of the volcano have been made as it appears from a distance, but no accurate information concerning it has yet been obtained.

It appears to be fully as high as Mount St. Elias, and may be even higher. The natives living in the vicinity are superstitiously afraid of venturing near the volcano, and this fact adds to the interest which surrounds it. I believe that Mount Wrangell can be reached by explorers who will establish depots of supplies, projecting one post beyond another and arranging for the systematic forwarding of the provisions to the terminal. No food can be depended upon in this region after leaving the river except that brought in by the explorer. The scaling of Mount Wrangell might require many days, but could probably be accomplished.

There is apparently little chance that Mount Wrangell will ever be reached from the direction of Mount St. Elias, that is, from the south. It is proper to state that the region between Mount St. Elias and Mount Wrangell is the only glacier field in Alaska. A few isolated glaciers can be found elsewhere along the coast, but in four-fifths of the interior no snow or ice exists during the summer. A dense wilderness of coniferous surrounds the ice region and blankets the country for hundreds of miles eastward. The volcano of Mount Wrangell offers today a unique field for the explorer and the professional mountain climber.—Cincinnati Post.

The Cook Was All Right.

"Do you like the dinner, John?" anxiously inquired his wife. "I cooked it all by myself."

"Ye-es," said John, trying to be kind and truthful at once, "but I'm afraid, dear, that there must be some misprints in the cookbook you use."—Free Baptist.

Home Without a Mother.

The room's in disorder,
The cat's on the table,
The flower-stand upset, and the mischief to pay;
And J. J. is screaming
As loud as he's able.

For nothing goes right when mama's away. What a scene of discomfort and confusion home would be if mama did not return. If your wife is slowly breaking down, from a combination of domestic cares and female disorders, make it your first business to restore her health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is without a peer as a remedy for feeble and debilitated women, and is the only medicine for the class of maladies known as female diseases which is sold under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction, or the money will be refunded. It is a positive cure for the most complicated cases of womb troubles.

"August Flower"

Mr. Lorenzo F. Sleeper is very well known to the citizens of Appleton, Me., and neighborhood. He says: "Eight years ago I was taken 'sick, and suffered as no one but a 'dyspeptic can. I then began taking August Flower. At that time 'I was a great sufferer. Every 'thing I ate distressed me so that I 'had to throw it up. Then in a 'few moments that horrid distress 'would come on and I would have 'to eat and suffer 'again. I took a 'little of your medicine, and felt much 'better, and after 'taking a little more 'August Flower my 'Dyspepsia disappeared, and since that time I 'have never had the first sign of it. 'I can eat anything without the 'least fear of distress. I wish all 'that are afflicted with that terrible 'disease or the troubles caused by 'it would try August Flower, as I 'am satisfied there is no medicine 'equal to it."

JOY FOR BALDHEADS.

An Invention That Promises to Make Life Worth Living for Many.

The wind has long been tempered to the shorn lamb, but the baldhead has had to take the blasts as they came. No special dispensations in the matter of weather have been made on his account. He has had to look out for himself, and the fact that he survives so unscathed is perhaps better evidence of his hustling ability than of his innate goodness. Why, no one appears able to tell, but certain it is that from time immemorial there has been none to do the baldhead reverence.

It will be remembered that when the original baldhead was making his way toward Bethel the children by the wayside requested him to "go up." This expression has no place in modern slang, but compliance with the order doubtless involved a journey to sections not down on our list of desirable habitations. Be that as it may, the fact remains that the caput destitute of hairy adornment has all along been the butt for universal ridicule.

But it is a long lane which has no turning, and the baldhead's turn has come at last. Some enterprising philanthropist has invented a polish for the hairless crown which is warranted to turn it into a thing of beauty and joy forever. This blessing comes in the shape of a polish, which is easily applied by a barber and imparts to the already shining crown a shine so brilliant that it dazzles the eyes and so smooth that upon it no fly can gain a foothold.

Those who have never experienced the joys and sorrows of baldness may not be able to appreciate the value of this discovery. The value is there just the same. With a little care the polish can be made midnight and mosquito proof, and the baldheaded man will no longer fall an easy prey to the influenza laden breezes, while he can lie down to dreams unbroken by the assaults of winged things. Surely the baldhead millennium is at hand.

The direct moral influence of this discovery cannot be overrated. With his sparsely thatched crown protected from the attacks of envious Queens the baldhead will recover from his tendency toward the use of unauthorized expletives, and he may even rise to the point of taking a front seat in the sanctuary in fly time. Relieved of the necessity for turning his skull into a block upon which to butcher the musca domestica, etc., he will be able to turn his whole thought to the sermon, thus setting a worthy example to the congregation while absorbing truths of which he has long stood in need.

If there is justice in all things, the man who makes two blades of grass grow where one has grown before will have to take a back seat when the inventor of the polish for baldheads comes in for his reward.

Verily, these be glorious times, and the baldhead is one of the chief participants in them.—Troy Times.

Three Humorous Titles.

Among the whimsical titles which appear on the pages of national history, few are more apparently frivolous than the Duke of Marmalade, the Count of Lemonade and the Earl of Brandy. They are, or were, however, real titles, bestowed by a genuine monarch on three of the favorites, and that, too, during the present century. In 1811 a revolution occurred in Hayti, and Christophe, a negro, declared himself emperor. Through conspiracy and plot, his life often attempted, he retained power till 1820, preserving to the last the appearance of a royal court and creating a numerous nobility.

Among them were the three already mentioned, and the oddity of the titles has suggested to many writers the frivolousness of the African character. In fact, however, all three names were those of places, the first two being originally plantations, but latterly towns of some importance. This fact not being generally known, a misapprehension has arisen with regard to the titles themselves, which, however absurd, are scarcely more so than some which were bestowed in France and Germany during the Middle Ages.—Boston Transcript.

English Rulers and the Language.

Unlike most other countries England has repeatedly been governed by foreigners, who thought so little of their people that they did not even take the trouble to learn the language of their subjects. Most of the Danish kings knew no English, and if William the Conqueror, William Rufus and others knew the language they kept the fact to themselves.

The early French kings, in fact, regarded England as a conquest and France as their home. Richard I, for instance, spent but a few months of the ten years of his reign on English soil. In modern times George I neither knew nor cared to learn English, and George II spoke it very imperfectly.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Intelligent Ants.

Several species of ants in South America make raids on the black ants, rob them of their larvae and compel the poor black ants to be their slaves. In the burying of their dead, ants show wonderful intelligence, having cemeteries, and even bury their slaves in a different place from their masters and are quite up to funeral pageantry. Much may be learned from ant life in their wonderful government, sanitary arrangement, common brotherhood, nursing and care of the young, temperance and love of fresh air.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

She Married a Lord.

"What has become of your niece?" asked Miss Donahue of Mrs. O'Rafferty. "Och, sure, an she's done well herself. She married a lord."

"Why, you don't tell me! An English lord?"

"No; I don't think he's an English lord. He's a landlord. He keeps a summer hotel."—Texas Siftings.
